'Flight Path' by Ian Andrew

Wright & Tran are back!

Kara Wright & Tien Tran are unlike any female detectives that have gone before. One is ruthless, borderline psychopathic. The other, is the conscience and restraint for both. Combat veterans of an elite intelligence unit, the women now make their living working mostly the mundane, but just occasionally they get to use all their former training.

"I'd like you to make sure the dead are really dead."

So it is that the enigmatic Franklyn tasks Kara and Tien to investigate the apparent suicide of a local celebrity. Within days the women are embarked on a pursuit that leads halfway around the globe and into the darkest recesses of the human condition. Kara, Tien and their team will endure mental stress worse than anything they experienced from combat and, like combat, not everyone makes it home.

The second in the acclaimed Wright & Tran series, Flight Path reintroduces many of the characters that held readers so enthralled first time out.

About the author

Ian Andrew was born and raised in Northern Ireland, then joined the military at age eighteen. An RAF Intelligence Officer, he served for twenty years before he relocated, with his Australian wife, to the rural south-west of Western Australia and established a successful management consultancy. Now, surrounded by a resident mob of kangaroos, he runs an independent imprint assisting other authors achieve their publishing goals. He is currently writing the next novel in the Wright & Tran detective series.

...Wright and Tran are the best in the business. Andrew's own experience working with Military Intelligence provides his work with authenticity and heart... He is an author who can be relied upon to deliver a good – no, much more than that – a great read.
